The Company:

A market leader in the highly competitive building supply sector, our client has built an enviable reputation as an innovative customer focused company. Additional growth opportunities have led to the creation of this senior role.

The Role:

Reporting to the CEO, your focus will be on growing revenues and profit in a highly competitive market. The role requires a major operational focus to ensure efficiencies are achieved throughout the company. You will need to drive growth through the development of a highly competent sales team which will be highly focused and accountable. As there is potential for the establishment of new Greenfield sites, start-up experience is highly desirable.

You:

You are a highly experienced manager who has held roles within the building or associated industries. Ideally you will be in your career growth phase looking for a new challenge. You will be highly motivated and have a proven capability to motivate others. You will have extensive experience in operational management in addition to having managed successful sales teams. Strong communication and financial management skills are critical to your success as is the ability to work closely with the business owners.

This is a senior position with enormous career opportunity and benefit for an experienced and confident manager. Apply now quoting ref # OABSP02
